

Police Nip $535,000 Extortion Of Draft Dodger Rubenstein

NEW YORK (AP)—A police trap set in the Fifth avenue home of Serge Rubenstein Thursday snared the alleged leader of a $535,000 extortion plot against the millionaire draft dodger.

Two other men also were arrested outside the town house of the Russian-born Rubenstein, who served two years in prison as a World War II draft evader and currently is fighting deportation proceedings.

Missile Gives Warning

Seized in the financier's quarters was Emanuel Lester, 31, who assertedly used threats in an attempt to force Rubenstein to settle a pending $750,000 Federal Court suit for $535,000. The suit was filed some months ago as a result of a foreign business transaction.

Lester—whose name was Emanuel Lieberman until 1945 when he had it legally changed—was not the original complainant in the case but entered it later.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the trap laid for Lester was the culmination of several incidents.

Rubenstein was punched in the face Aug. 17 by an unidentified man on the street. The next day a rock was thrown through a window of Rubenstein's home and a note attached to the missile read: "You have your warning. Next time you won't walk away. Pay your debts."

Detectives Hide

Rubenstein's attorney, Edwin B. Wolchok, quoted Lester as saying last June 21 that he had his own ways "of settling personal matters" when the lawyer refused to settle the case on Lester's terms.

Wolchok said Lester also told him: "Another man who tried to defraud me of $25,000 paid up after having every tooth in his head knocked out."

When Lester insisted that Wolchok arrange a personal meeting with Rubenstein, the attorney went to Hogan's office.

Before the meeting Thursday, three detectives hid in Rubenstein's home and a recording apparatus was turned on.

One thing the detectives said they heard was this comment by Lester: "What you got the other night was only the beginning."

After arresting Lester, the officers seized Raymond H. Shepard, 38, and William Love, 35, outside Rubenstein's home.

Following 10 hours of questioning, Lester and Shepard were booked early today on charges of attempted extortion and conspiracy and Love was booked as a material witness.

Vote On Censure Of McCarthy To Be Expedited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today a "definitely bipartisan" vote to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) would take the whole question "out of politics."

Flanders said in an interview he is "strongly hopeful" the Senate will vote on his censure resolution before the Nov. 2 general election.

He conferred Thursday with Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) during a brief stop here after a vacation in Europe. Watkins is chairman of the special six-man committee named to investigate 46 partially overlapping charges made against McCarthy by Flanders, Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) and Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.).

These charges have been examined by the special committee, which selected 13 as being "most important" and grouped them under five general headings as a basis for the public hearings which are due to open next Tuesday.

Flanders asked the Senate to censure McCarthy for what he called conduct unbecoming a senator and tending "to bring the Senate into disrepute."

Union Men Shot In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Two union men lay near death today after a blazing gunfight erupted between non-union and union men at the Fairgrounds here Thursday. Three other AFL men were wounded.

About 30 men were involved but no charges have been filed. Homicide Inspector Pete Wiebenga said. Included were 19 union men and 11 non-union workers.

Members of the AFL International Assn. of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers had thrown up picket lines around a construction job being built with non-union labor.

One of the wounded men said he and his companions went to "reason" with the non-union workers and "when we got out of the car, they started shooting."

The witness, W. A. White, told police: "All I said was, 'How about talking to you.' One of them yelled, 'This will do my talking,' and he shot me with a shotgun."

Police confiscated two shotguns, two pistols and a .22 rifle after the battle of blood and bullets.

Another witness, J. A. Bardill, said about 20 men approached the construction site, a partially completed cattle barn, and then "there were a lot of curse words... The boys at the building ran behind a concrete wall. They had rifles and pistols and shotguns. About that time a shot rang out."

Press Congratulated

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The World Council of Churches Assembly today voted congratulations on the work of its press and broadcasting committee, headed by Charles C. Parlin.

Parlin, a New York attorney and Methodist layman, paid $7,000 out of his own pocket to give a dinner for the approximately 600 reporters covering the assembly.

Battle On To Oust Avery As Boss Of Montgomery Ward

NEW YORK (AP)—The forces of Florida industrialist Louis E. Wolfson squared away today for a pitched financial battle to oust the conservative management of Sewell L. Avery from giant Montgomery Ward & Co.

"We believe we now hold the largest block of shares in the company," the 42-year-old Wolfson told a news conference here Thursday. "Our continuing investment in Montgomery Ward stock, candidly, has been with the intention to strengthen our position in the company with a view to superseding the present management."

Stock Bought Up

Avery, the 80-year-old chairman of the board of the 700-million-dollar mail order and retail empire, declined immediate comment in Chicago.

Wolfson's interest in Montgomery Ward became known publicly only a week ago. Until the news conference he had refused to state why he and his associates had accumulated large holdings of stock.

Wolfson, a slim, tanned man with black, curly hair, said: "I don't want to disclose the type attack we will use. We haven't crystallized any definite plans on how to approach the situation of the 68,000 stockholders."

European Army Issue May Break Up French Cabinet

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty hustled back from a vacation today to preside over a Cabinet meeting just 24 hours before the French National Assembly takes up ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty.

The deputies themselves, facing the showdown on EDC they had put off for 27 months, were in a turmoil of political intrigue that could end in the downfall of the two-month-old regime of Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

visaged under EDC. While this had no legal weight, the vote was another indication that EDC will have tough going in the National Assembly.

Union Rejects Treaty

The Assembly was in session over Tunisian and Moroccan problems, but most of the deputies were in the corridors talking about EDC and the government's future. Coty returned to Paris from vacation on the urging of former Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, a champion of EDC and bitter foe of the present government. Bidault urged that a full discussion be held on possible future policies before anything final is done to reject EDC.

These were among the day's top developments: 1. The assembly of the French Union, the top consultative body for France and her overseas territories, recommended by a vote of 100-45 that France reject the six-nation European army plan envisaged under EDC. While this had no legal weight, the vote was another indication that EDC will have tough going in the National Assembly.

2. A group of pro-European army ministers who had been under heavy pressure to resign immediately decided to stay on a while longer, at least until after the EDC vote. They feared the pro-EDC elements in the Assembly would have no voice if the ministers resigned now.

3. The Foreign Office announced Communist Poland had offered France an alliance against Germany. A Foreign Office spokesman said the proposal "obviously" would be rejected. Russia and her satellites have been working desperately to defeat EDC.

The half dozen Cabinet ministers supporting EDC had been under pressure from powerful political forces to resign at once.

Detroit Police Win Round With Young Rowdies

By FELIX B. WOLD

DETROIT (AP)—Young rowdism is on the downgrade in Detroit. Authorities have their fingers crossed. But there is definite evidence in the police record that boy gangs aren't the critical problem they were just a month ago.

The police youth bureau estimates this kind of juvenile trouble has fallen off 25 per cent. The cure—if it is a cure—has probably been in part a derivative of the old "spare the rod and spoil the child" rule.

Courts Get Tough

The courts have adopted a "get tough" policy. Teen-age offenders have been packed off to jail. Hereafter they get off with a reprimand, as a rule.

Adult groups also set out to do something about it, offering aid to civic authorities.

Earlier this summer the Motor City was alarmed over recurrent outbreaks of kid gang violence.

Rival gangs, often armed, met in actual combat. Boys got badly hurt. Sometimes they were killed. There were neighborhood depredations too. Vandalism was frequent. School buildings were particular victims of plunder and destruction.

At times there were wanton street attacks upon citizens.

A crackdown on the youngsters has now been in effect for one month.

Public Support Helps

Inspector Ralph Baker, head of the police youth bureau, said the decrease in juvenile rowdism stems from the courts' "stern attitude" and an aroused citizenry.

"People have begun to step forward and ask what can be done," Baker said.

Baker distinguished between "rowdism" and actual juvenile crime. In the latter, he said, there has been no decrease.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo's youth committee, cooperating with the police, courts, schools, churches and other groups, set out on a broad program against rowdism and delinquency in general.

One judge insists on having the parents in court whenever a youthful offender appears before him.

A stern police policy is supported. Churches are trying to stir up more interest on the part of young people. There are neighborhood plans for teaching errant youngsters manners and discipline.

Republican Chiefs Insist Eisenhower Will Visit Michigan

LANSING (AP)—The White House staff and Michigan Republican leaders appeared to disagree today on whether President Eisenhower is going to make a campaign trip to Michigan this fall.

Sherman Adams, assistant to the president, said in a letter to Democratic Gov. Williams Thursday that President "at the present has no plans for visiting Michigan."

Queried later, the summer White House at Denver, where the President is vacationing, left out the qualifying phrase. It said Eisenhower's plans do not include a Michigan visit.

State Republican chiefs, who are privately furious at Adams for not clearing his letter with them first, insist, however, they have definite assurances that the President will be in the state before the fall election campaign is over.

"We have every indication, some very recent, that the President is coming to Michigan to speak some time during the campaign," said David W. Kendall of Jackson, Republican national committeeman.

"The time and place have not been set, but we are assured Mr. Eisenhower is coming."

"I fully expect the President will be in Michigan this fall," said State Republican Chairman John Feikens.

Meanwhile, plans were going forward on arrangements for the Michigan campaign swing of Vice President Richard M. Nixon on Sept. 21.

Nixon will speak in Negaunee at noon and at Jensen Fieldhouse on the Michigan State College campus, East Lansing, in the evening.

President Takes Time Off Today For Trout Fishing

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower is taking today off from government chores to get in the first trout fishing of his work-and-play vacation.

The President arranged for an early start on a 40-mile drive to Pine, Colo., southwest of Denver. The stream there is a South Platte River fork which meanders through the Rocky Mountain ranch of an Eisenhower friend, Bal F. Swan.

Next week, starting Tuesday, there will be more trout fishing with former President Hoover as his guest. They will fish in St. Louis Creek at Fraser, Colo., 70 miles northwest of here on the western side of the Continental Divide.

Hit-Run Raid Is Propaganda For Communists

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today announced a small-scale hit-and-run raid on Quemoy, a Nationalist-held offshore island. There was no indication that it was a prelude to the Reds' loudly heralded threat of invasion of Formosa.

A Peiping radio broadcast said 40 Communist soldiers made two separate landings on Quemoy Monday night, killing 11 Nationalist soldiers before pulling back to the mainland 15 miles away.

One Soldier Captured

Nationalist sources in Taipei said the raid was one of several staged by the Reds in recent weeks to capture prisoners. They said one Nationalist soldier was captured and the Reds lost one man taken prisoner.

U.S. officials in Washington labeled the raid no more than a skirmish and pointed out that even the conquest of Quemoy would leave the Reds far from their goal of "liberating" Formosa.

The Nationalist stronghold lies 100 miles across the Formosa Strait, guarded by the U.S. 7th Fleet and an American-equipped army.

For several weeks Peiping has been broadcasting almost daily threats to "liberate" Formosa and wipe out the Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

No Troop Buildup

In advance of any invasion, the Reds would be expected to seize a chain of Nationalist-held offshore islands running from Quemoy north to the Tachens, some 200 miles northwest of Formosa.

However, U.S. military experts have discounted the possibility of a Red attack on Formosa and have pointed out that there has been no large-scale Red troop buildup along the coast opposite the Nationalist island.

U.S. sources in Tokyo said today they regarded the Quemoy attack and recent threats to invade Formosa as a propaganda campaign aimed at the forthcoming Manila conference to map a Southeast Asia security agreement.

These sources said the Reds are trying to show conference participants that the United States will go to war over Formosa and the signers of any defense pact would be giving up any initiative in the matter.

Soviet Officers Leave Kremlin

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—A campaign is underway to de-emphasize the Kremlin as the seat of Soviet government power and to establish the ancient walled fortress as a symbol of Russian history and culture.

Government leaders are moving out to scattered villas and many government departments already have been established elsewhere in Moscow. A plan has even been announced to move the bodies of Nikolai Lenin and Joseph Stalin from their Red Square tomb to a planned new pantheon in the outlying Lenin hills.

Just across Moskovolets Square from the Kremlin, on the banks of the Moscow River, the steel framework of a new skyscraper is going up. Mugevities say upon completion this will provide government offices, enabling remaining officials at the Kremlin to leave.

Persons present at the British Embassy dinner for former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his Labor party delegation during their recent visit to Moscow said Communist Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev told them the government hopes to open the entire Kremlin to the public as a museum within a relatively short time.

The Malenkov government has been permitting student groups to use Kremlin chambers for graduation exercises, proms and other events. It also has been thrown open as a meeting place for various gatherings.

Curve Crash Fatal

MARSHALL (AP)—Wilson Benjamin, 33, of Rte. 1, West Branch, was killed Thursday when the car he was riding in failed to make a curve and overturned six miles south of Marshall. Mrs. Reva Renana, 32, of Saginaw, the driver, and her daughter, Sarah, were injured.

Cowboy Movie Star Plays At Fair Saturday

An auction sale of fat cattle entered in the 4-H and FFA fat cattle contest will be the Saturday morning highlight at 11 o'clock at the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

The fat cattle will be judged today to determine contest winners and all animals will go on the auction block Saturday morning. Spirited bidding for the animals is anticipated by meat packers, hotel and restaurant operators.

The Saturday afternoon grandstand show will feature a massed band concert directed by Paul Yoder and a chorus directed by Dr. Jack Lyall of Columbia University. The program also will include a baton twirling demonstration by Nick and Joyce Michalares, professional performers and teachers.

Saturday night Rex Allen, cowboy movie star, will appear in person at the grandstand in a program that will also include Billy Wells and his Westernaire Orchestra, the Lovely Loni, acrobat, the Snyder Sisters and Rufe Davis, the one-man band.

Allen's recordings of "Crying in the Chapel" and "Jambalaya" have been very popular with record fans. His motion pictures include "South Pacific Trail," "Down Laredo Way" and "Valley of the Wild Stallion." He also has made many television appearances.

The fair will wind up Sunday with the big stock car racing program.

Despite chilly weather a large crowd attended the fair Thursday although a new attendance record was not established. The Congress of Canadian Daredevils thrill show played to a near capacity crowd Thursday afternoon. Homer and Jethro, WLS musical stars, scored a big hit in the Thursday evening program before a capacity crowd of fair patrons.

State Department Avoids Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top State Department officials, including security-inspection chief R. W. Scott McLeod, reportedly have decided to make no campaign speeches this fall in an effort to keep foreign policy from becoming a political football.

All 17 officials who hold the politically appointed rank of assistant secretary or higher are reported taking their cue from Secretary Dulles, who has firmly ruled out any role for himself in partisan Republican speechmaking prior to the November congressional elections.

While Dulles has issued no written instructions, officials said his "no politics" view has been made known throughout the department in clear terms.

More Lake Diversion By Chicago Opposed As Threat To Seaway

CHICAGO (AP)—Additional diversion of Lake Michigan water into the Illinois Waterway, says the Great Lakes Harbor Assn. would jeopardize the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

The association, an organization of Great Lakes ports, made known its views Thursday in a telegram to President Eisenhower. A bill which would allow additional diversion now is before the President for his signature.

Contrary To Security

The group told the President that the additional abstraction of waters from the Great Lakes also would "be contrary to our national security interest and may impair our friendly relations with Canada."

"The purely selfish local interest manifested in the water diversion bill demands rejection if the full use of the seaway is to be realized in time of war and peace," the association told Eisenhower.

Members of the association met Thursday with representatives from eight states bordering the Great Lakes—Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin—which hold membership in the Great Lakes States Seaway and Water Resources Conference.

Step In The Door

Under provisions of the diversion bill, water would be flushed through the Chicago Sanitary District Canal by the Army Corps of Engineers on an experimental basis. It would average over a yearly period 1,000 cubic feet a minute in additional water diversion.

Col. Wendell P. Trower, head of the Great Lakes Division, Army Engineers, told a reporter that the amount "is not a lot of water," and the difference in the level of the Illinois Waterway would be very slight.

However, opponents of the bill contend it is merely a "step in the door" to gain more water diversion later. Proponents of the measure maintain it will help control the lake level, high in recent years, and aid in purifying the waterway.

Moths Not Gone In Lansing Area

LANSING (AP)—A small colony of gypsy moths west of Lansing escaped the eradication blitz last June, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

This will require a second spraying campaign next year, it was added.

Four traps in Eaton and Ionia counties, out of 5,000 set out to check the effectiveness of aerial spraying, produced male gypsy moths, reported C. A. Boyer, chief of the department's bureau of plant industry.

The unsuspected colony was to the west of the 86,000 acres surrounding and including Lansing which were sprayed with DDT from airplanes to wipe out the destructive pest.

One trap, placed just east of Grand Lodge turned up 47 moths. Traps in Windsor and Benton townships, Eaton County, and Danby township, Ionia County, caught one moth each.

To guarantee wiping out the last of the pests in the state, Boyer said, he is planning to ask the 1955 Legislature to supply money to spray the areas next June with DDT.

The Moths Can Destroy any Green Foliage.

Seaway, Straits Bridge, Promises 'New Life' For Michigan, Says Governor

Construction of the Straits of Mackinac bridge and completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway will "bring new life to the Upper Peninsula and to Michigan," Gov. G. Mennen Williams said yesterday in his appearance at the U. P. State Fair.

Speaking four times at the fair—in the afternoon and evening before the grandstand, at a dedication of the new industrial exhibit building, and at the annual 4-H banquet—Gov. Williams emphasized a note of optimism for the future of agriculture and industry.

"With the Seaway and the bridge we are just awakening to a great new day in Michigan and in the Upper Peninsula," he declared.

To Encourage Industry

He praised the 4-H Clubs for their "wonderful display" at the U. P. State Fair and said the fair "provides the opportunity to bring together the very best in agriculture."

Of the U. P. State Fair's new industrial exhibit building, which was dedicated yesterday afternoon in special ceremony, the Governor said:

"Our hope is that this industrial arts building will become a show room for the Upper Peninsula—where everyone in the country can come to see what Upper Peninsula industries have to offer. It is our hope that the industries will take advantage of this opportunity."

The new $11,000 building was dedicated by Gov. Williams at a program including the cutting of a ribbon at the doorway by Miss Margaret Mackrain of Chassell, U. P. State Fair queen, and numbers by the Escanaba City Band.

To Become 'Ocean Ports'

Speaking in front of the grandstand in the afternoon, Gov. Williams said:

"There is an exciting ferment, a new enthusiasm, in the Upper Peninsula, in Michigan and the Middle West.

"After more than a generation the United States is to join with Canada in putting through the St. Lawrence Seaway, which with the Straits of Mackinac bridge now under construction will bring new life to the Upper Peninsula and to Michigan.

"We must be awake to take advantage of the new opportunity to become ocean ports that will serve not only our own state but all of the vastly productive hinterland," he said.

The Governor was introduced by Escanaba Mayor Harlan Yelland, who is chairman of the State Board of Alcoholism.

"Although of different political faith," said Mayor Yelland, he was asked by Gov. Williams three years ago to serve on the new State Board of Alcoholism and accepted. Mayor Yelland took the opportunity to thank the Governor "personally and publicly" for his aid to the Board.

Four Injured In Accidents

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in recent accidents in Delta County, it was reported by Michigan State Police at Gladstone.

Drivers of two cars were hurt at 10:15 p. m. yesterday in a collision of their cars on US-41 one mile south of Trenary. Injured were Arthur Niemi, 29, of Negaunee, and Harry Cole, 50, of Marquette.

State Police said the car driven by Cole struck the rear of the car driven by Niemi. Both cars were going north. Cole was ticketed for excessive speed.

The other accident occurred at 12:05 a. m. Thursday but was not reported to State Police until late yesterday.

A car driven by Richard Miron, 19, of Cornell rural route, skidded in loose gravel and rolled over on County Road 426 two miles north of Watson.

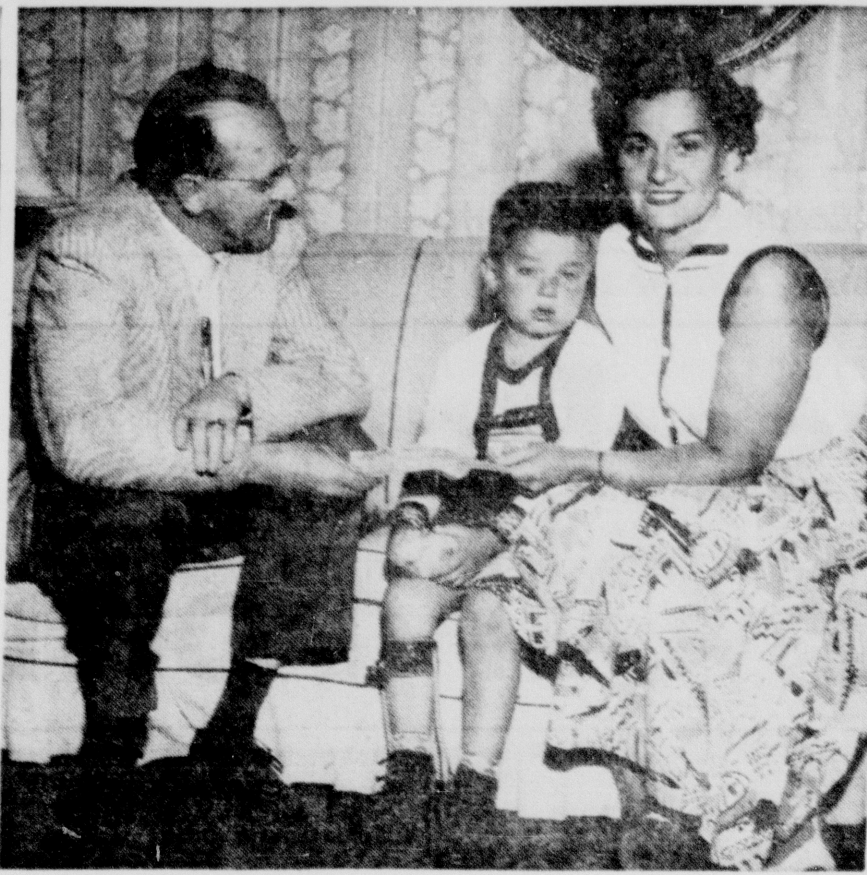

Mrs. Bernice Miron, 19, suffered bruises and head injuries, and Kay Ann Miron, 18 months, suffered a fractured right shoulder. All were treated by physicians without requiring hospitalization.

Briefly Told

Marriage License—Application for a marriage has been filed by Earl Bricker and Almeda Robinson, both of Gladstone.

Motorists Ticketed—Escanaba police have issued traffic violation tickets to the following motorists: Donald MacLean, 402 S. 6th St., disobeying stop sign; Lowell J. Farrell, 423 S. 7th St., disobeying traffic signal; Mrs. Stanley Cousineau, Munising, disobeying traffic signal and no operator's license on person; Phyllis Jane Fazer, Spaulding, disobeying a stop sign.

Picture of the Day—A waterfront scene in watercolor dominated by a white cabin cruiser is the "Picture of the Day" for Friday in the State Fair art department on the third floor of the exhibition building. Betty Sweeney of Powers is the artist. Her picture is interesting because of the subtle handling of the white of the boat against the light sky and the reflections of the sky and boat on the water.

A CHECK FOR $4,400 was received by the Delta County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis from the national headquarters of the March of Dimes to help pay the chapter's outstanding bills for polio care. Find Remedy for Major Cause of Power Loss in Automobiles

Gasoline additive overcomes harmful effects of deposits. Gives up to 15% more power and up to 2½ times longer spark plug life

A big majority of engines today are failing to give all the power they could—by as much as 15% according to automotive engineers.

They explain that lead and carbon deposits reduce engine performance by holding power captive. In combustion chambers these deposits become red hot and pre-fire fuel—before the piston is in the proper firing position. This condition, called pre-ignition by automotive engineers, sets power working against itself, wastefully.

Twin power robbers
These same deposits also form on spark plugs, and short-circuit them to cause misfiring. These twin power robbers prevent full engine performance, especially when power is needed most—on hills, and when accelerating.

Research scientists of the Shell Oil Company report that the new additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline and sold under the trademark TCP, releases power hitherto held captive by engine deposits. It does this, they explain, by "fireproofing" deposits in combustion chambers to stop pre-ignition. It also makes the spark plug deposits non-conductive and stops misfiring.

Effects quickly noted
TCP additive acts quickly, Shell engineers state. Automobile engines act as if they had been given a tune-up by the time two tankfuls of Shell Premium Gasoline containing TCP have been consumed, they say. This gasoline is available in this area at Shell Dealer Stations.

Menominee County Wins 4-H Club Parade Honors

Menominee county, which has scored conspicuously in dairying exhibits at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, also carried away coveted honors in the 4-H Club livestock parade yesterday afternoon.

In this contest, in which the type of cattle, showmanship and picturesqueness of garb were the chief considerations, Menominee county won first, Dickinson county second and Delta county third. Always considered a particularly bright highlight in the fair's events, the showing was more than ordinarily outstanding this year because of the number of entries and the fine condition of the cattle. It was an event fitting and timely for showing before the crowd that packed the grandstand on Governor's Day.

Showmanship Winners

Results of judging in the 4-H Dairy Cattle contests show a larger number of firsts than are awarded in open cattle contests. This is because the judging is conducted on the "Danish System" which allows the judge to rate animals that attain certain standards in one class and those of inferior call in another group. For that reason there are many firsts in practically every group. Superiority of one particular animal over another is not considered.

There was one contest, however, in which rivalry had a definite part. Exhibitors in each breed group went all out for the showmanship trophies offered.

Winners in the exhibition honors are:

Holstein Group—Harlan Linderoth, first; Nick Thoney, second; and Vera Holmslund, third. All are from Menominee county.

Guernsey Group—Eunice Carlson and Bertha Johnson, first and second, both of Delta county and Alden Johnson, Alger county.

Jersey Group—Vernon Benson, Dennis Johnson and Mary Buckmaster, all of Menominee county.

Brown Swiss, David Valerio, Dickinson, first; Vernon Ford, Delta county, second; and Eleanor Anderson, Menominee county, third.

Following are the winners of blue ribbons:

Holsteins

Holstein Junior Calves, Danni Niemi and Nancy Niemi, Gogebic; Eldon Bowers, Harlan Linderoth, Peter Bastien, Norine Punstra, Menominee; Roland Kalippila, Alger; Lois Mocine and Gerald Olson, Delta.

Holstein Senior Calves, Hilding Linderoth, Menominee, 2 blues; Henry Varda, Dickinson; Edith Sundquist, and Harold LaMarche, Delta.

Junior Yearlings, Karen Good, Delta; William Pawley, Schoolcraft; Ted Mattson, Billy Harvey, Roger Cootware, Dickinson county; James Homelund, LaVerne LaMarche, Delta county.

Senior Yearlings, Arthur Good, Edith Sundquist, Delta; Hilding Linderoth, Nick Thoney, Menominee; Donna Andes, Menominee; Shirley Harvey, Dickinson; Harlan Linderoth, Menominee.

Two Years and Under, Harlan and Hilding Linderoth, Menominee; Warren Wickman, Lowell Charon, Geraldine LaMarche and Vera Holmslund, Delta.

Three Years and Over, Luke Suckorsky, and Harlan Linderoth, Menominee; Maria Mutilla, Alger; Beth Hendrickson, Schoolcraft; JoAnn Bregger, Iron; Roger Cootware, Dickinson; Joan Holmslund, Vernon Holmslund, Carol and Gerald LaMarche, Delta.

Best Four Females from one County, Lester Walcutt, Menominee.

Guernseys

Born Between Jan. 1 and April 15, Alden Johnson, Alger; Beverly Kalo, Gogebic; Bertha Johnson, Delta.

Senior Calf, born between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1953, Julia Frazier, Marquette; Dalton Johnson and Vernon Shute, Dickinson.

High Acts Not New To Sway Pole Girl

By JOAN DeSHAMBO
A show business entertainer all her life, Rieta, artist of the sway pole, is presently appearing with the Barnes-Carruthers grandstand show at the Upper Peninsula State Fair with the last performance this evening.

She is one of the members of the famous high wire act family, the Wallendas, who played in Escanaba several years ago. High wire acts such as Rieta's date back five generations to Germany in the Wallenda family, which came to the United States from Germany 20 years ago.

The "high pole sway act" was begun by Rieta seven years ago.

New Teeth Added To '29 Plat Act

New teeth have been put into the 1929 Plat Act, County Clerk William Butler reported on his return from a three day meeting of the Register of Deeds at King's Gateway. He said that the act was amended to provide a penalty for persons who sell five or more pieces of land without first filing a plat of that land. The penalty provides for a fine of $500 or 25 per cent of the amount of the sale, whichever amount is greater. Butler said that this amendment will simplify recording of the descriptions of the land.

Another section of the amendment, which became effective August 13, stated that lots will not be designated as part of a block in the future. Only the lot number and the plat number will be registered. The size of residential lots has also been restricted to a minimum width of 60 feet. Municipal governments may make exceptions where the shape of a lot does not permit a 60 foot minimum, Butler said. The amendment was made to Act 172 of the Public Acts of 1929.

Fishermen To Meet Here Next Monday

Commercial fishermen of this area will meet in Escanaba next Monday evening with Claude VerDuin, Grand Haven, secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, in a business meeting scheduled for 7:30 in Carpenters Hall.

All fishermen from the upper Green Bay area and vicinity are expected to attend, said Roy A. Jensen of Escanaba.

A proposed treaty with Canada in a program for control of the lamprey is to be discussed, among other subjects at the business session.

Other matters to come before the fishermen will include a review of proposed legislation affecting the commercial fishing industry; marketing of fish; and a proposed change in the legal minimum size of whitefish.

Cool Weather For Tonight Forecast

Last year on this date Escanaba were sweltering under the hottest August 27 temperature recorded in this area. Indications from the weather bureau are that there will be no repetition of that heat wave today. It is unlikely that the temperature will rise above an expected high of 70, weatherman S. E. Decker said. Escanaba and the Soo shared top temperature honors Thursday with 69 degree readings. The Soo cooled off to 39 during the night while Escanaba went down to 49. It will be cool again tonight.

Decker said that there were faint indications that showers may move into this area tonight. He added that the forecast was not certain but that there is a possibility of showers. Rural Iowa absorbed most of the rainfall in the past 24 hours following a day of general rains which blanketed the entire state, averaging 2.05 inches in the north and 1.60 inches in the south.

She performs 122 feet in the air on a swaying pole with no gimmicks. Many suspicious people have waited for her to come down the pole following the act for the purpose of finding out whether she uses any safety devices during this dangerous stunt.

Stands On Her Head
"When I left the family high wire act to become a lone performer on the swaying pole, I started from the top right away, she stated. "I would sit up there for an hour and just look down; it took a long time to get used to the height."

During her act the supple performer does many acrobatic tricks. Outstanding on the swaying pole are Rieta's headstand and the climax of the act, standing on top of the pole and swaying about 25 to 30 feet, each side, if the wind is not too strong.

Never has a high wind kept Rieta from performing. As the old saying goes, "the show must go on," although in windy weather she does not include the headstand or the last stunt in the act.

At the close of the appearance, Rieta slides down a slanting 400 foot wire, stretching from the top of the pole to the track on the ground. She does the slide on one foot, balancing precariously.

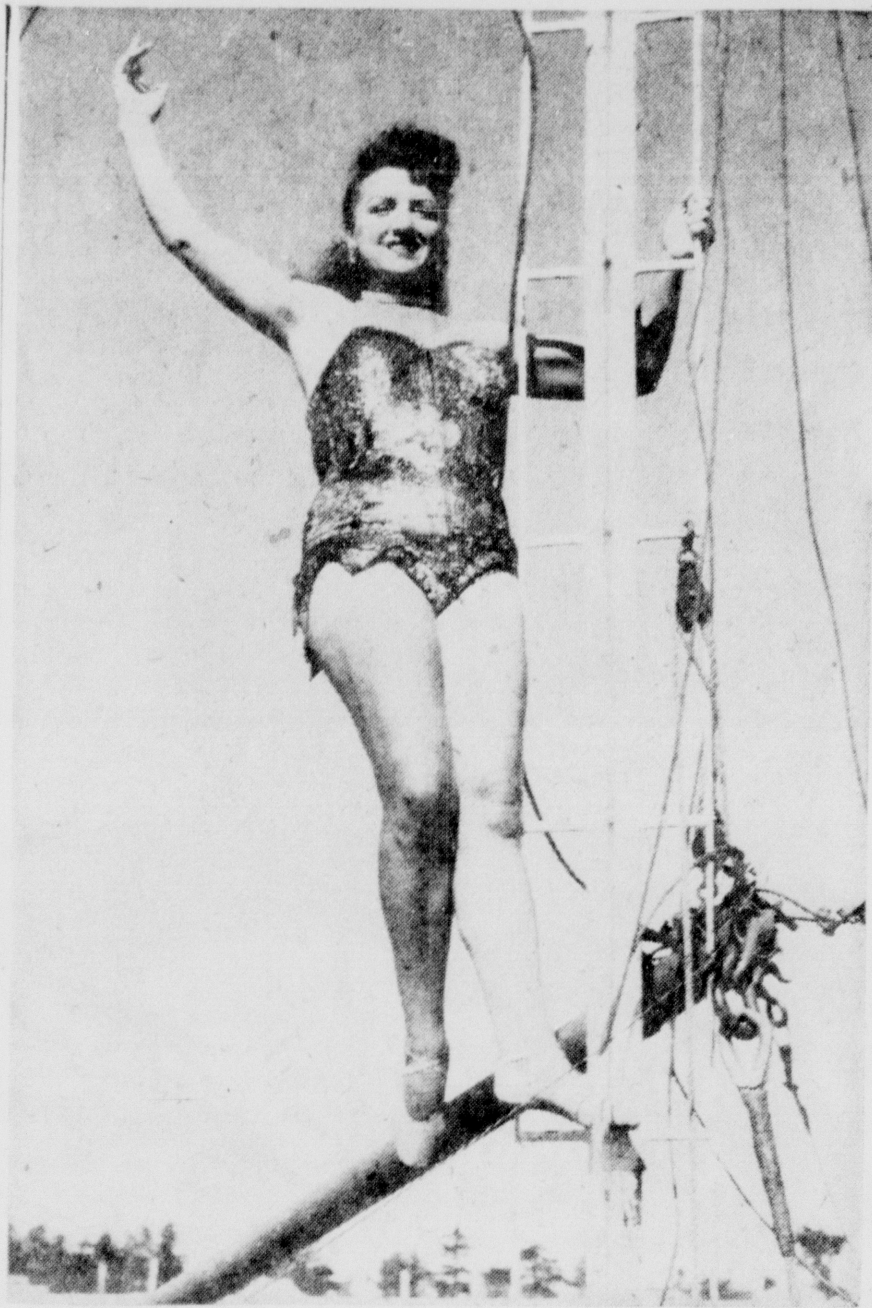

There are several such acts in the States," she said, "but most of them are performed by men. The only thing that I think about while doing my act is how the audience is reacting to it."

Several Close Calls
Rieta has had several close calls, and she feels fortunate that she is here to talk about them. The one most vivid in her memory occurred when the wind was quite strong, and she just swayed to one side. A wind was coming from the opposite direction, and she could not get the pole back up. Finally after two minutes of attempting with all her strength to push the pole back up, and still keep her balance, the feat was accomplished.

Her husband, Arthur, a former member of the high wire act, erects and checks the equipment. Rieta will not trust anyone else to do this important task.

After tonight's engagement at the fairgrounds, Rieta, her husband and their dog, Pasha, a doberman pinscher, will leave for Columbus, Ohio. They recently were billed at Cedar Rapids, Ia. Their home is in Florida where they relax during the winter months. Last winter, Rieta was unable to spend much time at home. She toured Venezuela for seven weeks and Cuba for nine weeks.

"This winter I want to just relax."

New Brazil Finance Minister To Tackle Coffee Situation

By ROMAN JIMENEZ
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (P)—Eugenio Gudin, head of the Brazilian institute of Economics, was sworn in as Brazil's new finance minister Thursday night to steer the nation through its serious economic crisis.

The 68-year-old economist said his first concern would be the coffee situation. Declining exports of this main Brazilian product have caused a severe foreign exchange shortage.

Faces Tough Job
Gudin promised also to do his best to stabilize prices and curb state expenses in an effort to halt growing inflation.

President Joao Cafe Filho appointed Gudin Thursday to replace Oswaldo Aranha, who resigned this week with the rest of the Cabinet of ex-President Getulio Vargas after Vargas killed himself.

The new finance minister faces a tough job in doctoring Brazil's economic ills. The country has had to borrow 80 million dollars from the U. S. Federal Reserve Bank, putting up national gold reserves as collateral. The loan falls due on Oct. 23. The Treasury also owes the Export-Import Bank 200 million dollars.

Allied With U. S.
Since the first of the year money in circulation has been increased by 8.5 per cent and living costs have shot up 22 per cent. They may rise even faster due to blanket salary increases Vargas decreed in June.

The new foreign minister, Raul Fernandes, told an interviewer the new government planned no changes in foreign policy, under Vargas Brazil was allied solidly with the United States against communism.

With the country generally back to normal following the riots touched off by Vargas' suicide, a high police source expressed confidence that the outlawed Communist party was too weak to cause serious trouble.

Simon Maki, 75, Gladstone, Dies

Simon Maki, a retired Gladstone man was found dead this morning at 320 Minnesota Ave. Maki suffered a stroke in June and apparently suffered a second one during the night. The death was discovered at 10 a. m. when a daughter-in-law Mrs. John Maki brought Maki his breakfast. He had been living in a house trailer which was parked in his son's yard.

Maki who was born in 1879, came to Delta county from Finland as a young man. He was employed for many years at the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Works at Kipling. Later he was employed at the Buckeye and had also

Soldier Who Went With Reds Shows Sorrow For His Action

"EVERY night I look at your picture and I feel remorseful. What more can I say?"

These are words written by Richard Tenneson, one of the 22 American soldiers who embraced Communism in Korea, refused repatriation and disappeared behind the Bamboo Curtain of China. They were contained in a letter Tenneson wrote to his 17-year-old brother, Nathan.

They are expressive words, containing

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

SOME HIGHFALUTIN WORDS

A reporter on one of the many papers which carry this feature sends along what he calls a note of sympathy and commiseration for my recent difficulty in trying to get the quotation "All is not gold that glistens" into print without overzealous proofreaders hanging the last word to "glistens."

"There are," he reports, "quite a few other words which almost never survive intact from copy to printed page. 'Empathy,' for example, invariably becomes 'sympathy,' 'bathos' usually winds up 'pathos' and 'bathetic' obviously is bound to appear as 'pathetic.'"

"Nor is there very much you can do about it. The average newsman soon learns to avoid uncommon words like these which so nearly resemble other words far more commonly used. But with a feature like yours which has largely to do with unusual words and phrases—well, you have my sympathy!"

"Thank you, sir for those kind words. While we're on the subject—and with all proofreaders and compositors thoroughly alerted by the paragraphs above—perhaps we may talk a bit about empathy and bathos.

The first (pronounced EM-puh-thee) is a psychological term meaning the projection of one's own personality into the mind or personality of another in order to understand him better. This special meaning is, of course, not at all the same thing as "sympathy" which merely means a sharing of similar emotions.

Bathos (pronounced BAY-thos) likewise is not synonymous with pathos, though the two are closely related. Pathos, properly speaking, is the quality in an experience which moves an onlooker to pity or compassion. Bathos, by contrast, is a false, synthetic, exaggerated appeal to the emotions. Thus you may find pathos in the court room ordeal of Captain Qheeg in THE CAINE MUTINY, but the perpetual clifhanging anguish of a soap opera heroine would merely be a form of bathos.

Another reader asks the origin of "highfalutin," a colloquial term meaning high-flown, pretentious and pompous, which I used recently. Well, nobody really knows where it came from but the most likely theory is that it is a corruption of "high-flown" or "high-floating" with an extra syllable tossed in to make mock of stuffy orators who never use a simple word when an elaborate polysyllabic one can be found.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

JOHN MALONE is threatening to compile a volume called "Sexual Behavior of Vegetables," obviously hoping to cut in on the lucrative Kinsey market. He promises to tell just what makes a Brussels sprout, a celery stalk, and a radish repeat. He will show how a potato first has its eyes opened, and why luscious grapes turn into withered raisins. The frontispiece will show a carrot in the raw. Obviously, this daring tone is headed for the best-seller list!

The Doctor Says...

Earliest Possible Attention Should Be Given To Stuttering

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

About one or two out of every one hundred persons has a speech defect known as stuttering. This always begins early in childhood and is about four times as common among boys as among girls. It is not restricted to any level of society, and afflicts the poor as much as the rich. Essentially, stuttering is a disturbance in the rhythm of speech. There are spasms of repeating sounds or blocking of the speech sounds for a few moments.

THERE ARE several theories as to what causes stuttering, but it certainly seems to be a nervous or emotional disorder. Stuttering is not inherited, but some children are born with a tendency to it, probably because their nervous systems are particularly susceptible to this speech difficulty.

Stuttering appears to develop in two stages. It is much easier to treat during the first stage before the child has developed feelings of inferiority and anxiety. For this reason the earliest possible attention to stuttering is recommended. Every preschool child who shows early signs of stuttering should receive immediate treatment.

the pathos of a young man who made a grievous error and thereby ruined his life. In recent letters to his family Tenneson has given several indications that he is dissatisfied with his move.

It is, of course, not surprising. Undoubtedly all of the 22 young men who took the wrong road are today as remorseful as Tenneson. It was their own decision, made voluntarily and with sufficient time for reflection upon the consequences. That it was an unhappy decision is their own fault.

The sad situation in which these young men find themselves today is not likely to be improved in the months or years ahead. It is not easy to escape from the borders of Communism and especially for 22 Americans who comprise some very valuable propaganda material for the Reds.

Tenneson has learned—the hard way—that Communism is brutal, godless, not at all the Utopia that his captors had painted for him. And it is a bitter blow in the realization that he has forsaken his family, his friends and his freedom for his present unhappiness.

The story of Tenneson and his 21 American companions now in China is a sad story, but it is a story that makes all of us better appreciate our own happiness and particularly our own country.

Other Editorial Comments

MAD MAN OR MADMAN (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

When Dr. Small was acquitted of murder in the slaying of his wife's lover because the jury found him temporarily insane, he expected the immediate opening of the doors to his release. The court has ruled, however, that since the jury found him insane upon medical evidence to that effect and upon his personal plea that such was the case, it must commit him to the asylum indefinitely, or until he is determined by due process of law to have become once again sane.

That reasoning sounds good but not to the accused or his lawyer. It also helps to solve in somewhat decent fashion a problem of the ages, and without doing so in an altogether trifling manner. Nearly everyone involved is aware, of course, that the doctor was not insane at all. Instead, he was enraged. He had good reason to be mad. And the libertine who invaded his home had increased the flames of the doctor's rage by his contemptuous behavior.

But everyone also knows of the high peril in permitting any person to execute the law to please himself or to satisfy an anger, however well justified.

Whether the trial court over in Michigan will be upheld on appeal will be decided by the processes of time, but other states have held, in similar instances, that instead of a discharge from custody, the correct procedure is a commitment to an asylum for the criminal insane. There is some vindication of the law in that result. At least those involved will not jeer at the law as they have been doing.

this one aloud—and with the proper intonation) who went into a saloon and asked, "Is the bar tender here?"

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The morale of precinct workers and local organizations of the Republican party in several states is shot to pieces, and this may prove a major cause contributing to the loss of Republican control of both houses of Congress in the elections next November.

Letters received by this correspondent from many parts of the country tell of influential Republican party workers, including some county chieftains, who have decided to be passive in the coming campaign. Some of them say they will not even vote.

Reasons for the apathy inside the Republican party vary. Some of it is due to a lack of interest on the part of President Eisenhower, and particularly of the White House staff, in the fortunes of the regular organizations. Some of it has arisen because the "Citizens for Eisenhower" movement is being interpreted as a threat to discipline regular Republicans who have conscientiously adopted views differing from some of those of the President.

There is indeed a widespread feeling that, ever since the death of Senator Taft of Ohio, the so-called "liberal" wing has made a captive of President Eisenhower at the White House.

SERIOUS CLEAVAGE

Perhaps the most serious cleavage in the Republican party arises from the mis-handling of the McCarthy issue by the White House staff, whose influence is believed to be responsible for goading President Eisenhower into the position of seeking deliberately to punish the Wisconsin senator. For several months the direct and indirect attacks on Senator McCarthy at the President's press conferences have not gone unnoticed among Republicans who feel that the Wisconsin senator has performed a service to his country by arousing public interest with respect to Communist techniques and methods of infiltration in America.

Whatever the merits of the controversy over congressional committee "methods" and however much some persons have come to dislike the senator from Wisconsin as a result of the recent televised hearings, the practical aspect from a political viewpoint is that literally millions of Republican voters think Senator McCarthy now is being persecuted not for a few in-temperate remarks and speeches made under provocation but because he fought the Communists in government.

TROUBLESOME ISSUE

These millions of voters include many hundreds of thousands who crossed over from the Democratic to the Republican party in several key states in the 1952 elections because they believed the Truman administration was "soft" on the Communist issue. They have by no means been convinced that they should go back to the Democratic party, but they probably will make their protest in November by not voting at all.

The McCarthy issue is, of course, a troublesome one from any political viewpoint, and most candidates on the Republican side are fighting shy of any mention of it. But the Republican candidates will suffer just the same because of President Eisenhower's part in the fight. For the fact remains that Senator Flanders, a Republican, started the move for a formal "censure" by resolution of the Senate without the sanction of the Senate Republican policy committee. Then Mr. Eisenhower wrote a letter to Senator Flanders praising his speech on censure, and the latter has since made public references to that Eisenhower letter.

Now, just at a time when the energies of the Republicans might better be spent in campaigning against the Democrats, a committee of six senators is to hold extensive hearings which will keep the McCarthy issue in the headlines throughout September and perhaps October.

STRONG REACTION

Senator Flanders started out with a demand for the removal of Senator McCarthy from his chairmanship of the committee on government operations and of the permanent subcommittee on investigations, and then switched to a proposal for "censure." But it looks now as if the Vermont senator is going to have his original wish fulfilled. For, according to the election outlook as of today, not only is Senator McCarthy going to lose his chairmanship in the coming elections, but so will all the other Republican chairmen of committees in both the House and the Senate.

At the grass roots the emotional reaction to the McCarthy issue is so strong that, even if the weakest of the percentage totals shown by the various Gallup polls as to those who are on the McCarthy side is taken as an accurate measurement today of the pro-McCarthy sentiment, it is enough to defeat the Republican party by the simple device of their not voting at the coming elections.

The feeling is bitter because the whole anti-McCarthy attack at this last session of Congress was spearheaded by the "Americans for Democratic Action"—which backed Stevenson in 1952—and by an offshoot of that organization known as "The National Committee for an Effective Congress." Senator Flanders admitted on the floor of the Senate that he had been consulting with that group of New Dealers in the preparation of his charges against Senator McCarthy.

Saddle - Making Is Still Big Business In Rockwall, Texas

By RALPH MONCRIEF

ROCKWALL, Tex. —(NEA) — Next time you throw a saddle on Old Paint for an afternoon's canter through the countryside, there's a fair possibility it came from the cluttered little shop of George H. Vaught.

A tall, thin, friendly fellow with sparkling blue eyes, Vaught has been making saddles since migrating from Murfreesboro, Tenn., some 50-odd years ago when he was 16.

One of the last of the old-time saddle-makers, Vaught said: "Saddle-makin' is better business now than when it was supposed to be good; that is, back in the horseless carriage days. We're usually 30, 40 saddles behind in orders."

"Some of our saddles," Vaught admitted, "ends up under some drugstore cowboy, but most of them go to saddle jobbers through out the nation. We've shipped them to Michigan, California, Alabama, Oklahoma, Louisiana — about any place there is a horse and a riding enthusiast."

Vaught moved out to Rockwall from Dallas around 1925 with $35 in his pockets and opened a shoe repair shop just off the town square. Soon he added saddle and harness-making, and gave up shoes.

"I ain't got much money yet," he laughed, "but do have a little more than that $35, and I'm gettin' along."

Almost all of Vaught's employees have been with him 15 or 20 years.

"They sorta drift in, ask for a job and settle down," he said. "Most of them have only been in the trade since coming to work for me, but you take Bill Mahler there, 'he thumbed toward a bespectacled little man busily at work on a hand-tooled job 'He's

OLD-TIMER MAHLER: At 82, he turns out two or three a week.

82 and one of the last of the old-time floating saddle-makers. He's been in the trade 64 years.

"He's quite a character. He can stand flat-footed and jump up on his workbench. He turns out his share of the saddles—two or three a week of the 20s or 50s we make," Mahler looked up and said:

SADDLE-MAKER GEORGE H. VAUGHT: "It's better business now than back when it was supposed to be good..."

"Guess I've worked almost everywhere in the southwest and southeast where they have the saddle trade. I started in Dallas when I was 16 with Padgett Brothers. They worked 20 or more full-time saddle-makers in those days. I moved on to St. Louis, later to Albuquerque and Silver City, N. M., then drifted down to Buford, Georgia. I've worked lots of other places I can't recall."

"Business was booming and it was easy to get a job. I just moved around the country having fun and working when I needed to. I've been with Vaught since '49 and reckon I'll stick around."

"Another of my boys is a war veteran, Billie Jo Rogers," Vaught said. He's 22 and learned the trade about as fast as anybody I ever saw. Fine boy. He's been with me something over a year on a veterans on-the-job training deal. Not many like him these days—newcomers to the business."

"Used to make belts and other leather gizmos on the farm," said Billie Jo, "and kinda drifted into this here trade. It's a good way to make a living, and I like it. Suppose I'm gonna stay with it."

"In the spring," Vaught went on, "we have a couple of leather sidelines. One is knee-pads. They are half-cupped shape pieces of leather cotton-pickers strap around their knees to keep the rough black land from bruising them all up. We did about $20,000 worth of the things last year."

"Another little item is toy pistol holders. We did a gross of $10,000 on them last year. Those are about the only sidelines we have — keep too busy makin' saddles and harness."

We have added (Air Force) wings to our defense by substituting wings from our offense. Such a trend can be fatal in warfare.—Senator Symington (D., Mo.).

I'm not going to run for anything from dog catcher on up. I'm satisfied.—U. S. District Judge Harold Medina denies he'll seek New York's governorship.

FARMER-SPORTSMEN—The Michigan State Grange, the Michigan Farm Bureau and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs are sponsoring several meetings in Lower Michigan for the purpose of discussing "better farmer-sportsmen relations."

Similar meetings held last year are reported to have been "very successful."

We are all for such conferences, but think they should be extended to the Upper Peninsula, where we have both farmers and (at least during the November deer season) an unusually large number of hunters.

The suggestion is made because we felt such discussions might have prevented a bitter misunderstanding that occurred last year in a farming section of Delta County. A downstate hunter (accidentally, of course) had killed a farmer's cow.

Caught in the act and told that unless he paid up the farmer would call in the law, the hunter went to his car, wrote out a check for $150 while the farmer looked on, handed it to the farmer and drove away.

The check bounced back from a downstate bank. No one by that name had an account there. And on the back of the check the farmer found, on closer examination, the following message written lightly in pencil: "Nuts to you, hayseed!"

COOPERATION ENDING—For the sake of discussion "farmer-sportsmen relations" may be an excellent topic, but in practice it has been found by the farmer to be a one way street when it comes to cooperation.

The hunter is essentially a trespasser on the farmer's land—unless he receives permission from the farmer. The benefit to the farmer is usually nothing more than making a good fellow of himself.

Few hunters who think nothing at all of paying $200 for a rifle and ammunition, paying plenty more for equipment, license, travel expense, will pay the farmer not one red cent for the use of his land as a hunting ground.

Under the circumstances it is small wonder that "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs are going up faster than the hunters can tear them down or shoot them full of holes. Cooperation, from the farmer's viewpoint, is a one-way proposition—he cooperates and the hunter doesn't.

CODE OF ETHICS — The true sportsmen will hunt only on unposted land and in areas distant from farm buildings and fields.

But the chap who doesn't care for the property or legal rights of others will hunt where he wants to hunt, even if it means cutting farm fences, leaving pasture gates open, shooting toward farm dwellings, and otherwise making his pastime damaging and dangerous to rural residents.

What the hunter needs is a code of ethics that—if violated — will bring down upon him not only the scorn of other sportsmen but the law as well. A sportsmen's code without enforcement measures is practically valueless.

After all it is the hunter who is receiving the benefit of the farmer's hospitality when the farmer does not post his land against hunting. The hunter should be grateful enough to follow the basic rules of courtesy as the guest and try to avoid any act of negligence or vandalism.

And if he does cause damage to the farmer's property he should be honest enough to direct attention to it and pay for it.

THE CLOSED DOOR — Farmers and other owners of property in the county have the right under law to prohibit trespass and hunting without permission.

Let any U. P. farmer visit a Detroit suburb and start shooting a high-powered rifle within a few hundred feet of a dwelling and the law would land on him in a matter of minutes.

The situation is not dissimilar to what happens in many farming areas in the Upper Peninsula when the deer hunters move up from downstate. Bullets have killed the farmer's livestock, his dog, and even penetrated the walls of his home.

But seldom are the hunters discovered, for they can speed away in their cars without being identified or caught. The only recourse the farmer has is to close the door to his land—post it with "No Hunting" signs and growl threateningly everytime a stranger crawls through the fence.

"Farmer-sportsmen relations" need improving in the Upper Peninsula, also.

Miss Sodergren, Sherril Loid Wed In Lyons

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Beverly Ann Sodergren, daughter of Mrs. Doris Sodergren of Danforth and Sherril Loid, 4337 Joliet Ave., Lyons, Ill., which took place at a double ring ceremony Aug. 14 in the Lyons Methodist Church.

The bride wore a pink ensemble with white accessories, a strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift, and a white orchid corsage.

A wedding dinner for immediate family members followed the service.

The newlyweds who went to Daytona Beach, Fla., for their honeymoon will reside in Lombard, Ill.

The bride, an Escanaba High School graduate, is a typist for Sears Roebuck in Chicago. Her husband, a Lyons' High School graduate, is employed by the Chicago Public Service Department.

Good Things Come In Pears

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Such two some doings with pears! We're thinking of how good canned pears taste with the tang of fresh oranges as in the salad pictured here. And how well rosettes of cream cheese and cherries garnish this salad.

For another kind of pear salad, fill the halves with something crisp—a mixture of celery, walnuts and mayonnaise. Add pretty green leaves of romaine.

For desserts, we dream on the French way of filling pears with vanilla ice cream and topping with chocolate sauce!

And still another luscious combination: coarsely - grated semi-sweet chocolate folded into sweetened whipped cream and used as a topping for canned pears.

Ever have pears heaped high with glistening flakes of lemon gelatin? The gelatin is prepared as usual and poured into a shallow pan to set; when it is firm it is flaked with a fork.

Do you like preserved ginger? Chopped fine, it's perfect to spoon into pear cavities; a little of the ginger syrup should be added, too. This may be served as is, but we highly recommend giving it a turn in the oven.

Another dessert we especially favor, Pears topped with a soft custard sauce that has had a little brandy flavoring added to it.

If you follow these suggestions what are you going to do with the pear juice, you ask? Try combining it with frozen orange juice for the family's morning eye opener or mid-afternoon or evening snack.

Or substitute the pear juice for part of the liquid in a flavored gelatin dessert. We never knew what made one of our sister's gelatin desserts taste so good until we discovered she did this. Use the pear juice with any of the gelatin flavors—orange, lemon, lime, strawberry, raspberry or cherry.

Does your family like old-fashioned cottage pudding? Accompany it with a sauce of the pear juice, adding lemon juice and rind, and thickening with cornstarch.

Pear-Orange Salad
Ingredients: 6 drained canned pear halves, 1 head romaine, watercress, 2 large oranges, 12 cherries (sweet canned or maraschino), 1/2 of a three-ounce package cream cheese, 3 tablespoons honey, 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Method: Arrange pear halves and romaine on salad plates. Peel oranges so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes with small sharp knife; add orange sections to salads. Garnish with sprigs of watercress. Fill cavities of pears with cherries. Have cream cheese at room temperature; force through a cake decorating tube to make rosettes for blossom ends of pears. Stir honey and lemon juice together; pour over salads. Makes 6 servings.

American Bosom Safe; New Dior Idea Exaggerated

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Men and movie stars may now relax. The American bosom is safe.

Reports of Christian Dior's flat-chested silhouette, like previous scares over knee skirts and no girdles, have been greatly exaggerated.

With the release today of the first pictures of Paris fall fashions the American public can draw a great breath of relief. Alarmed husbands and sweater girls, who have had nightmare visions of a return to the concave chest of the flapper era, now can see that the controversial Dior silhouette doesn't look so much different from things being worn by U. S. women today. The bosom is still there, though not so accentuated as previously, and most of the designs define the waistline, though it is not nipped in as sharply as in recent years.

The first American adaptations of the Dior models already are being turned out in New York's garment center: easy, wearable styles with a long-torso look, a slightly easier waistline and a different system of shaping the garment through the bust, achieving a rounded but not a flattened line.

Andrew Arkin, a bright young Seventh avenue manufacturer, who was taking orders on his Dior adaptations from stores almost before the original models landed in this country, says:

"Nobody needs to worry about this new silhouette. It's easier to wear than the waist-cincher styles we've had recently. It even hides a slight rubber tire around the middle, if a woman has one. We're making them in sizes up to 18."

SUPERIOR PLAY

A hand in the recent Western team-of-four tournament pitted the declarer, M. Schleifer, once an Austrian expert, how a California Life Master, to show his skill.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 5 4 2	♥ J 6 5	♦ 8 6 5	♣ A Q J 5
♠ 9 8 7	♥ 3 2	♦ 10 9 4	♣ 3 2
♠ A K Q 8 7	♥ Q 10 4	♦ Q J 4	♣ K 7
♠ J 10 9	♥ A K	♦ A K 7	♣ 2

Our California correspondent wrote that he was forbidden to divulge the bidding—presumably, it was "unusual"—but the final contract was two spades by South, doubled by East.

West opened his top diamond, and East cashed the top cards in that suit and in hearts, then exited with a small diamond. South tested the trump situation by laying down the ace, and when the 5-9 break was revealed, it was obvious that he was in acute danger of losing two trump tricks in addition to the four tricks already lost.

However, there was a chance to overcome all obstacles, and South went about that very matter in masterful fashion.

He led his new club to the queen and returned a trump. East properly split his sequence, putting in the nine, and South won. Now the club king was overtaken with the ace and the club jack was played. Again East offered the best defense; he ruffed with the ten of spades.

If South had overruffed at this point, or if he had discarded his last side-suit card, the heart, defeat would have been inevitable. The repercussions from either play are easy to follow. On the overruff by South, East will still have the J-6 of trumps and a diamond against South's 8-7 of trumps and the heart. If South leads the heart, East gets both of his trumps; if South leads a trump, East wins and forces South's last trump with a diamond return. If, instead of overruffing, South discards the heart, East leads the diamond, and South must ruff in his own hand. Then he must lead from the Q-8 of trumps to East's J-6.

But South did neither of the things mentioned above—he underdressed East's spade ten with the seven, and now East was fixed. On his diamond return—as good as any—South discarded his heart, ruffed in dummy, and then had East coupled in trumps on the following club lead from the table.

Farmers Urged To Watch Results Of Oat Harvest Here

Best Producing Varities Are Checked At Chatham

By J. L. HEIRMAN
County Agricultural Agent

We harvested the oat variety plot on the Herman Bittner farm last week. The varieties grown were Ajax, Bonham, Craig, and 5441. The samples will be taken to Chatham for threshing to determine yield per acre. When we get the results, we will publish it along with results from other counties. From observation made when harvesting the plots, it looks to me like Ajax and 5441 will be tops with Bonham next and Craig a poor fourth.

I suppose some potato growers are wondering if blight will hit this year. In the past several years, we have always found blight on potatoes in July. The thing to remember is this: July was a dry month with the temperature above 50 degrees every night. From here on out with cool nights and heavy dews, we can expect trouble unless we keep spraying.

The new potato variety, Cherokee, on the Octave Carignan farm, Cornell, looks good. It's a white skin potato and is resistant to scab and blight. We looked at the field a few days ago. The set is good and the skin nice and white. On Aug. 16, the field had been sprayed twice for blight control and three for insect control. We feel that the variety should be tried more widely next year.

Do not mix your young pullets with the old hens in the laying house. If the pullets are beginning to lay on the range, sell all the old hens in the laying house immediately and clean the house from top to bottom. This will give the pullets a clean house to start in and will prevent diseases and insects from getting the upper hand.

To properly clean the laying house, scrub it with lye, one pound to about twelve gallons of water. A cresote disinfectant should be sprayed on the side walls and roosts to control parasites. Use rubber footwear and gloves when working with cresote and lye.

We are all back in Escanaba again after closing the 4-H Club Camp at Wells State Park. Even Oscar found his way back. The nights are getting a little cool to be out-of-doors reports Oscar. It reminds me to pass out a warning

Farm Census Field Offices At Marquette

MARQUETTE — Establishment of a field office or the 1954 census of agriculture was announced today by Norman McKindies, who has been appointed supervisor for this area. The census field office will be in rooms 218 and 220 Harlow Block, Marquette.

McKindies said that preliminary work on the 1954 census of agriculture, to be taken this fall, will begin immediately. This includes organization of the field office, interviewing applicants for jobs, selecting and training of office clerks, field crew leaders and enumerators.

The territory assigned to this office for the 1954 census of agriculture includes Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee, Ontonagon and Schoolcraft counties. Approximately eight crew leaders and 82 enumerators will be employed to take the farm census in this area.

FHA Loan Funds Available Here

The Farmers Home Administration has received funds for loaning purposes for the current fiscal year, according to J. C. Young, field representative for the Upper Peninsula.

The Farmers Home Administration furnishes credit and management service to farm families who will have a sound operation after using the loan funds. It is not the intent of Congress, or the Secretary of Agriculture, that these loans be used to finance part-time farmers or to subsidize poor methods of farming. First emphasis is made on improved use of present resources.

Careful operating plans are worked out by the borrower, records are kept, and periodically the records are analyzed and the plan revised as needed.

The Farmers Home Administration office is open Monday through Friday in Room 310 of the local post office. Inquiry may also be made in the County Extension Office either in Manistique or Escanaba.

on rat control before the real fall weather sets in.

Rats move in to the farmstead every fall and do considerable damage. A single rat will eat about fifty pounds of feed during the year and will spoil at least three times that amount in addition to what it eats. Rats are also disease carriers.

Rat control is a continuous battle. Warfarin used in recommended dosages will do a good job.

Suggests What To Do When Lightning Stalls Milker

When lightning knocks out your electricity the cows still have to be milked. But now you can use your tractor to do the job, reveals J. L. Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent.

The cost is very little to make your tractor a substitute milker motor, but it's not the type of change you can make on a moment's notice, warns Heirman.

The set-up needs an extra stallcock to put in place of the manifold plug and a length of hose to run from the tractor to the vacuum line. But not all tractors will have the manifold plug and it may have to be drilled and tapped.

There are some precautions that farmers should take, notes Robert G. White, Michigan State College extension agricultural engineer. The stallcock should be opened slowly as the sudden demand for vacuum may stall the engine. The stallcock should be closed when starting the tractor.

The tractor should be run at a slow engine speed, as it develops more vacuum. Keep a watchful eye on the vacuum gauge on the milker line. Usually a tractor will have 18 to 22 pounds of vacuum—that's too much—only 10 to 16 are needed. The vacuum tank should not be by passed. Just connect the tractor to the tank—it makes the milker run smoother.

Equipment dealers in Delta county may have the necessary connections for this "tractor milker." Ask at the county extension office for details.

Cow Hauling Losses Can Be Reduced, Says Jack Little

CHATHAM—Bruising, crippling and killing livestock by careless loading and hauling is costly and can be avoided, says Charles J. Little, Michigan State College extension dairy specialist.

Marketing time and show time are two dangerous periods. Even though some animals are insured, the loss is still great. Here are some suggestions that Little says will help reduce livestock handling losses:

Remove nails, wire, splinters and broken boards from hauling racks. Use a smooth loading chute that is not too steep.

Bed trucks with sand or other material that will keep the animals from slipping.

Partition Loads
Partition loads of animals of different sizes to prevent injury to the smaller ones, Little said. Load slowly to prevent crowding against sharp corners and avoid excitement.

Little warns against beating animals into the truck, since this will bruise animals.

The MSC dairy specialists also advises covering the truck to protect animals during bad weather.

Drive carefully, inspect the load enroute and unload slowly, he says. These suggestions will help cut trucking and handling losses.

100 Bushels Of Corn Need 2,666 Tons Water

More than 2,666 tons of water are needed to make a 100-bushel corn crop, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing estimates by corn belt soil specialists.

"Because of this fact," says a statement by the committee, "it is essential that farmers keep their soils in shape to make maximum use of every drop of rain available."

Actually many corn belt farms are only about 50 per cent efficient in the use of water for producing crops, says the committee. Two factors responsible for this are:

1. Too much water is permitted

Spray For Blight On Tomatoes, Spuds

Noticed any blight or leaf spot on your potatoes or tomatoes? It's still not too late to do something about it.

Earl Wade, plant disease specialist at the University of Wisconsin, says a good fungicide material put on as a dust spray may still do some good.

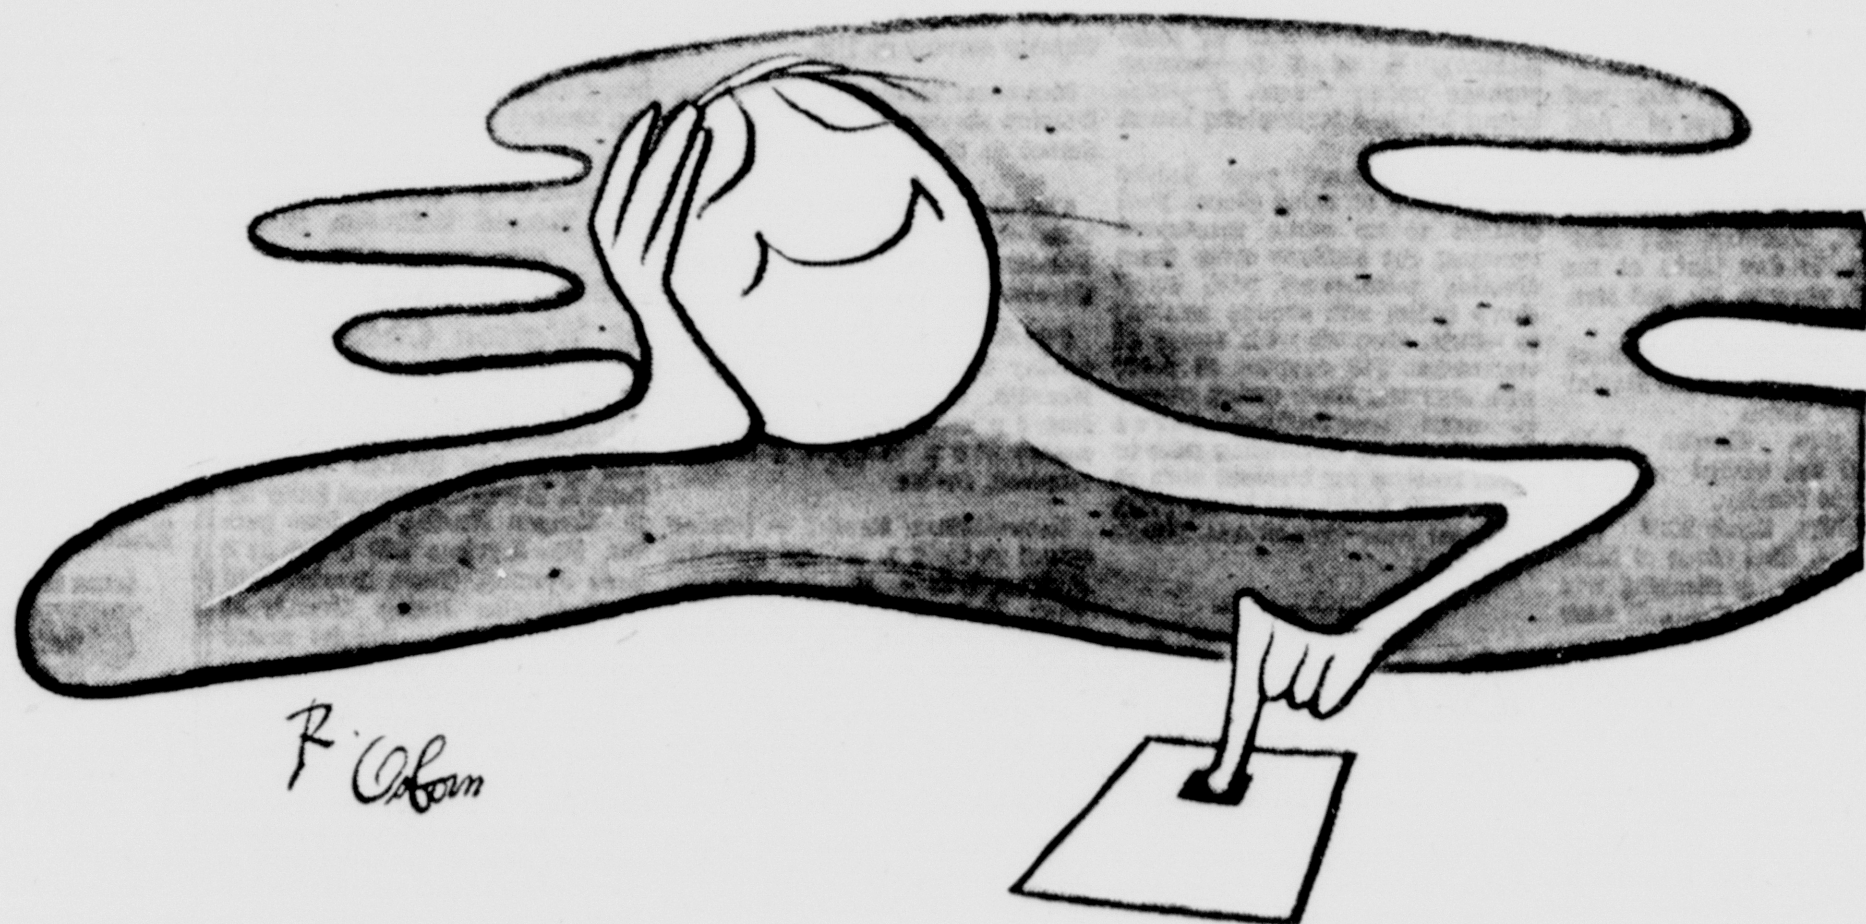

He recommends spraying with a dithiocarbamate material such as zineb (Dithan Z-78, Parzate powder), nabam (Dithane D-14 or Parzate liquid plus zinc sulfate), or Manganese ethylene bisithiocarbamate (Manzate). Copper materials will do a good job where late blight is the main problem.

The dithiocarbamate materials are also effective against Septoria leaf spot and Anthracnose fruit spot of tomatoes.

they need for high yields.

"Soils can be kept in good condition for maximum water use, by growing legumes and grasses regularly in the rotation, by adding fertilizer and lime, where needed and by returning crop aftermath to the soils. On some soils Midwestern agronomists recommend two years of a legume-grass sod in every four to build the supply of active organic matter to keep the soil in good shape."

THE ENDLESS EASE

he likes hard work... as long as he doesn't have to do any!

The ENDLESS EASE is an advertising man who likes an ad program that "runs itself" — no matter what direction it runs in.

He won't climb a sales peak... rather flow down hill.

He won't make a quick move... rather take a slow loss.

Fortunately he's a rare creature — almost extinct in today's tough market.

Most ad men today are probing deep. They're carefully weighing one market against the other — for product sales possibilities... for competitive opportunities. And they're finding sales plums they never knew existed.

And they're concentrating their advertising locally in the markets that show the most promise.

Naturally they're turning to newspapers to cover those markets fast and fully. Because just about all the people in each market read the newspaper every day.

Retailers know this, too. That's why they feature so strongly the products of manufacturers who advertise in the local newspaper.

It's a partnership that moves merchandise in volume — and in a hurry! That's why national advertisers upped their investment in newspapers 14.3% last year!

All business is local... and so are all newspapers!

Luke Miller returned to Sage City on the Thursday morning train. On the train was a pale, drawn-looking man in his mid-thirties. He wore a gray derby, a gray Prince Albert with a gray silk vest. He also wore a broad belt with a holster that contained a nickel-plated, short-barreled revolver.

This was Eric Stratemeyer, whose reputation was known throughout the West.
Mrs. Luke Miller and Wes Tanager, who were at the depot, did not see Eric Stratemeyer. Their eyes were on Luke Miller whose arms were loaded with parcels and two or three wooden boxes. Miller set the packages down on the platform and kissed his wife.

"We'll have a paper this week," said Mrs. Miller. "We're ready to go to press as soon as the press is ready."

Inside the plant of the Star Miller stripped off his coat and rolled up his sleeves. "Let's get to work."

"Maybe you'd better read the proofs of the front page," Tanager suggested.
Miller caught up the page proofs. He had barely glanced at it, then he exclaimed.
"Mayor! Me?" He read on and as he read a gleam came into his eyes. Finally he looked up and drew a deep breath.

"It's great!" cried Luke Miller. One of the delivery boys brought a bundle of newspapers into the Fugger Store and deposited them on the counter where Laura Vesser worked. She read Tanager's article, the frown on her face growing as she read.

Then the newspaper was whisked out from under her eyes by Bill Bleek.
"For the boss!"
Fugger had begun to total the results of the business of his various enterprises. He looked glumly at Bleek as the latter appeared with the newspaper.

"So they got out a paper, after all!"
Fugger took the paper and began to read. A spot of red appeared on his cheeks, began to grow.
"So Miller wants to be mayor," he finally said.

"They were pretty close-mouthed about," said Bleek. "but I got a hint of it a couple of days ago."
"Why didn't you tell me?"
"It was just a rumor and I couldn't check it. They offered the sheriff's spot to John Bailey, but he turned it down."

"There's something about this Bailey. I can't put my finger on," said Fugger.
"A man named Stratemeyer came to town today," said Bleek. "You . . . sent for him?"
"Nobody knows that."

"Three people today told me that you sent for him," Fugger made an angry gesture. "Stratemeyer hasn't been in here and he isn't going to be. He's going to deal faro for McCoy."
"And what about those gun-fighters Hong Kong Smith's bringing up from Texas? What're they going to do?"
"Where'd you hear about them?" snapped Fugger.
"Smith likes to talk."

That evening Bill Bleek went to McCoy's Saloon and he gambled. He sat in the faro game of Eric Stratemeyer. Stratemeyer was widely known for his prowess with a gun, but it was also known that he ran an absolutely straight game and his table had a good play.

Bleek played for five or 10 minutes and lost.
"I'd better not lose this one," he muttered.
Eric Stratemeyer gave him a sharp look and slid the cards out of his box. "Queen wins, seven loses," he droned.

Bleek's money was on the seven. He reached out. "Pay me."
"Seven loses, friend," Stratemeyer said.

Bleek's reaching hand became a fist that darted across the table and exploded on the point of Stratemeyer's jaw. The gambler crashed backwards over his chair. He scrambled clear and the cheap nickel-plated revolver was somewhere in his fist.

The gun roared and a spot appeared in the center of Bill Bleek's forehead. Bleek swayed for an instant, then his body sagged to the floor.

Stratemeyer looked coolly around at the stunned witnesses. "Well?" he asked.

No one said a word.
Lee Kinnaird came into the Texas Saloon and saw Wes Tanager at the bar. He was watching Lily Leeds, who was at the back of the room talking to the piano player.

Kinnaird walked up to Tanager. "Bill Bleek just picked a fight with Eric Stratemeyer." Then, as Tanager looked at him inquiringly, "Bleek found out that a fist's no good against a gun. He's dead."

"Jacob will have a hard time replacing him."
"He's already been replaced," said Kinnaird. "Stratemeyer. Or, didn't you know that Fugger sent for him?"

Tanager shrugged. Kinnaird continued:
"Fugger sent a telegram to Stratemeyer. Laura Vesser told me about it." Tanager's eyes came to Kinnaird's face and the former marshal did not avert his own eyes. "Fugger's deep. Could be, he wanted it to leak out that he'd sent for Stratemeyer."

"Possibly."
"You've heard of Stratemeyer's reputation?"
"Who hasn't?"
"I don't suppose it's occurred to you that Stratemeyer's being here has anything to do with you?"

Briefs

NAHMA—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lancaster and their children of Montreal, Quebec, Canada, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska have accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hruska on a motor trip to Canada where they will visit at St. Anne de Beaupre.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Beauchamp and family of Detroit have been spending their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beauchamp. Miss Mary Krutina has left for Pasco, Wash., where she will teach school during the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis of Ne-gaunee visited at the Olmsted home this week.

Suzie Elgeert of Escanaba spent several days this week at the Henry Sargent home.

Mrs. A. G. Johnson and Henry Hebert returned recently from Minneapolis where they visited relatives.

The checks were drawn on the State Savings Bank of Remus. Miles said that while the checks were clearing Schlegel used the money to buy and sell potatoes but succeeded in making deposits in the Remus bank in sufficient time to cover many of the checks.

Miles said Schlegel obtained $57,265 through his scheme between February and April, when $27,555 still was outstanding. Since, Miles said, Schlegel has redeemed $7,000 worth of checks.

Miles said Schlegel operated a 240-acre farm, dealt in the potato market, sold farm machinery and operated a beer distributing agency.

It is possible for any man to be better than his reputation, but never better than his principle.

PERKINS—Don Nickolis is employed on the Straits Bridge project at St. Ignace.

William Evenson has taken employment in Milwaukee. His family is living here.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Agnes Peterson were Mrs. Zula Smith of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Ann Fleming of Daggett, Mr. and Mrs. Adolore Gerou Jr. and family, Miss Frances Peterson of Escanaba, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nelson and family, Gladstone.

The Farragut apartments were insured by the FHA for 20 million dollars. An earlier witness told the hearing that the project returned four million dollars to builders who had invested $15,000.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks has eased restrictions on U. S. trade with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries of Europe, but he said he doubts there will be an early increase in the flow of goods across the Iron Curtain.

Commerce Department sources said Weeks' order would reduce by one-third to one-half the list of goods now banned from commerce between the United States and the Red bloc in Europe.

The announcement dealt only with policy—the Commerce Department has to make public later lists of specific items to be freed from embargo.

Weeks' move came a day after foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen announced a similar relaxation of curbs on Red trade of friendly nations getting aid from the United States.

Both officials said existing restrictions still stand on trade with Communist China, North Korea, or the Communist area of Vietnam.

And both said the new policy toward trade with Communist countries in Europe would not slip into the East-West trade stream anything of significant military value.

Voicing some skepticism that his new order would result in quick stimulation of East-West trade, Weeks' statement said "an early increase in the volume of trade with the Soviet bloc resulting from this action is . . . unlikely in view of the bloc's aim of self-sufficiency and its inability to provide desired goods in exchange for imports."

ST. IGNACE—School, city and county units of government will receive tax benefits from trailer parks in the area. The fee, according to Patrick Mackin, city treasurer, will be $1.50 for each trailer per month. The tax will be distributed on the basis of 75 cents to the school, 50 cents to the city and 25 cents to the county.

MARQUETTE—The Rev. John Chiramal, Cochran, South India, who found an inspiration in the work of father Flanagan, of Nebraska, which led him to the beginning of the realization of his dream of a "Boys' Town" for India, was a visitor in Marquette Tuesday.

NEGAUNEE—Contract for the new Federal and state highway in Marquette County between Ne-gaunee and Marquette, will be let this fall, and work will begin this year. So states State Highway Commissioner Charl M. Ziegler.

L'ANSE—A hero's reward has come to prison convict George Cardinal, 42, an American Indian from L'Anse. Cardinal has been paroled from the Marquette Prison because he risked his life in the rescue of two fishermen on storm-swept Lake Superior last April 25.

Housing Project Homes Crumble

NEW YORK (AP)—A Senate investigator says an FHA-approved Brooklyn apartment project, which allegedly produced a four-million-dollar "windfall" for the promoters, already has started to crumble.

Myron Hedges, a staff employee of a Banking and Currency subcommittee on irregularities in Federal Housing Administration loans, testified Wednesday concerning the condition of Farragut Gardens, a development of 60 six-story buildings containing 2,496 apartments.

Hedges told Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), conducting a one-man hearing, that roofs of the dwellings—built in 1951—are leaking, some of the foundations are broken and unstable, the wall plaster is inferior, and there is evidence of "sloppy and hurried" bricklaying.

The committee's earlier hearings in Washington disclosed allegedly huge profits to builders of FHA-insured projects. They reputedly built the projects for much less than the mortgages and pocketed the difference.

The Farragut apartments were insured by the FHA for 20 million dollars. An earlier witness told the hearing that the project returned four million dollars to builders who had invested $15,000.

Street Projects Will Be Speeded

Workmen will be added to city crews in order to expedite completion of some of the projects which have been on the program for some time.

Lack of finances and a wealth of other projects on which city workmen have been engaged has resulted in the street program having been practically at a standstill this summer.

Following an analysis of the financial situation it was disclosed that there would be in the vicinity of $8,000 available and this would be augmented by money from special assessments.

It was indicated that there was about enough money to do work on 7 blocks of the 12 which the city has committed itself to do. "Let's expedite the work and maybe we'll find the money we need as we get the others done," said one of the city commissioners.

Double crews, if necessary, were asked to get things humming.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson is scheduled to meet Wednesday with a contractor who is interested in doing the blacktopping projects here.

Men Bowlers Plan Meeting

Men bowlers will meet next Thursday evening at 8 at the Midway alleys to discuss plans for the impending season. It was announced yesterday by J. Walter VanDeWeghe, league secretary.

All persons interested in bowling in one of the local leagues or in sponsoring a team in one of the loops that will form the association are invited to the planning session.

Oliver Lund, Rapid River, will preside at the session as head of the local bowling association.

Cleo Johnson, Frank Williams In Bridal Rites

A double ring wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Allen Miller, assisted by Rev. Paul Sobel, for the marriage of Miss Cleo Rae Johnson, Manistique, and Frank Clyde Williams, Royal Oak, Mich., Aug. 21. The 4 p. m. nuptial services took place at the Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Barney Johnson, 417 Oak St., while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clyde Williams, Royal Oak.

Adorning the altar for the service were baskets of white gladioli and pink phlox. White satin bouquets and nosegays of daisies and pink gladioli marked the pews. During the ceremony, Miss Jean Carlson sang "Through the Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

White Organdy Gown

The bride wore a gown of white organdy styled with a portrait neckline and an imported embroidered panel of organdy, extending into a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught by clusters of orange blossoms and forget-me-nots. She carried a bouquet of white and pink painted daisies.

Identical strapless gowns of pink nylon tulle over taffeta were worn by the maid of honor, Miss Janet McLeod of Roseville, Mich., a classmate of the bride at Alma College, and the bridesmaids, Misses Ann McLaughlin and Roberta Johnson, the bride's cousins.

The gowns were designed with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts, trimmed with three tiers of braid. Completing their ensembles were matching short jackets and gloves. Ivy with pink bachelor buttons was worn by the bridesmaids in their hair. They carried white baskets of daisies and pink gladioli.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Caswell chose a blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red gladioli. The bridegroom's mother wore a black satin and lace gown with matching accessories and a corsage of lavender gladioli.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. Pastel colored glads and white wedding bells formed the decorations. A three tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the bride's table. Mrs. O. H. Anderson cut and served the wedding cake and Miss Carol Hendrickson, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Elna Swenson, poured.

The newlyweds are spending their honeymoon in Cedar Rapids, Ia. For going away, the bride chose a light blue suit with white accessories. They will reside in Brampton.

The bride attended Gladstone High school and the bridegroom is a graduate of Gladstone High school.

Out of town guests were Mrs. H. E. Bruemmer, daughter Carolyn and sons John and Jerry, Menominee; Hugo Hendrickson, Stephenson; Mrs. Hulda Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnowood and daughter Joanne, Manistique; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hendrickson and children, Newberry; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hendrickson and children, Ewen; Miss Carol Hendrickson and Owen Hoadley, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors, friends and relatives for the assistance and sympathy tendered us at the time of our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Edward Prim.

Especially are we grateful to those who sent floral bouquets, offered autos for the services, Elder Rex Stowe for his consoling words, to those who sang and played for the services, the pallbearers, and all others who by word or deed assisted us at this time. The memory of these acts always will remain with us.

Signed:
Edward Prim and family

Will Live in Chicago
Upon their return from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside at Chicago. The bride also attended McCormick Seminary. The bridegroom is a June graduate of Alma College. She is a member of Alpha Theta. Mr. Williams' fraternity is Delta Gamma Tau.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stem and daughter, Linda, Albany, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Levi Michael, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brannford, Munising; Mrs. Carl Robertson, Grindstone City, Mich.; Mrs. Dave McDowell, Detroit; Mrs. A. V. Swedberg and granddaughter, Jo Ellen, Rock Island, Ill.; and Mrs. Jack C. Kopitke, Litchfield, Ill.

Marriage Not Shaky
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A million dollars damages is asked by James Mason, British movie actor, and his wife Pamela because, they said, published articles declared their marriage was shaky.

They said they have been happily married for 15 years and have no intention of separating.

They alleged "false and libelous statements" were printed in the Motion Picture and Television Magazine, a monthly publication, and the Daily News, a Los Angeles newspaper.

The Brazilian bellbird is a white bird about the size of a pigeon. It derives its name from the sound it makes—like a hammer on an anvil.

C-L Keeps Lead Though Defeated

Barely keeping its Twilight Golf League margin, C-L Hardwre succumbed to the Tigers, 14-6, in matches at the Indian Lake Golf and Country Club Thursday. IGA topped Inland Lake and Stone, 12-7, and Malloy Signs trampled Top O' Lake, 11-3, in other contests.

After 13 weeks of competition C-L has 125 points while IGA trails with 124. Third with 120 is Malloy's while the Tigers have 117, Inland 116 and the Lakers 88.

Two ties, Everett Cookson with Leonard Males and Carl Malmberg with William Shinar, plus two-point wins by Mauri Ekberg over Alvin Nelson and E. J. Thompson over Ed Doyle, were all the points the league leaders could amass against the Tigers.

Not Like Felines

Piling up the two-point tallies for the Tigers were John Kasun over Tom Bolitho, Nick Modders over Fred Hahne, T. R. Southard over William Norton, Jack Orr obtained a forfeit from Mauritz Carlson and Wilbur Rouse received one from William Cook.

For IGA, Ossie Smits topped A. J. Cayia Sr. for two, Ferd Gorsche lost for forfeit to Ian McKilligan, Russell Watson was downed by Elwood Taylor for a pair but Carl Carlson surged back by downing Vern Dufour.

But As Merchants
William Phillion tied with William Corson and John Crossley followed suit with Harold Rogers. Barney Johnson gained a forfeit from I. J. McLaughlin while J. L. LeDuc took two from Glenn Pawley. William Males forfeited to William Hood as Fred LaBrasche tied A. J. Cayia Jr. and John Girvin took Archie Carpenter.

It was all one-way as the Lakers gained only three markers. R. G. Hentschell accepted a forfeit from Carl Makiel, Harvey Ekdahl tied John Kelly and Bill Manning clocked John Matthews.

Otherwise Malloy's conquered as Bud Malloy took a forfeit from Carl LeBrasseur. Walter Nelson did likewise with Ted Hentschell and Merle Weiner accepted the same from Hiram Learned. Posting two points were Phil Villeneuve, Frank Hoholik and Benjamin Gero. They defeated William Hentschell, Neil Reese and Andrew Matland, respectively.

Recreation Night — The senior young folks of the Bethel Baptist Church will meet at the church at 7:30 p. m., Saturday for a treasure hunt.

COMMUNISTS TO TEST Party Ban In Courts
NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the Communist party says it will not bow to the new law outlawing it. He says there will be a court test of the law, signed this week by President Eisenhower, if and when the government moves to curtail any Communist party activities.

The spokesman, a ranking official of the party who declined to be identified by name, said Wednesday night that Communist candidates for public office will continue to campaign, publication of the Daily Worker will continue and Communist leaders will make public speeches.

Pump Joins Tests At New Structure

Testing continued at the new pumping station Thursday as one high-lift pump joined the low-lift one in operation. Nothing has been sent into the city mains so far, but City Manager Orson Liversmore believed that water may be pumped into the mains within a week.

The water from the intake is being sent through the wet-well and through the pipe system into the reservoir. The water is being doubly chlorinated so that all possible bacteria in the system and reservoir will be eliminated. An open hydrant returns the test water into the Indian River after it travels through the station system.

Two more high-lift pumps will be installed at the new location when final changeover can be made from the present pump site. A standby pump and an emergency one, gas-powered, will be added. Only one pump is used to send water through the mains.

Yankees Trounce Tigers, 11-2, But Orioles Boost Them Back Into 4th

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanks to Baltimore, the Detroit Tigers were back in the American League's first division today after spending six hours in fifth place.

Baltimore got an assist in boosting the Tigers back into fourth place by knocking off the Boston Red Sox Thursday night, 5-3.

In the afternoon Detroit took a 11-2 shellacking from the New York Yankees.

This had left the Tigers half a game behind Boston pending the night game. But the Red Sox defeat dropped them back into the second division again, one percentage point out of the top four as they had been for several days.

The still-powerful Yankees clubbed three Tiger pitchers for 17 hits. Irv Noren, the league's leading hitter, got four of them. Another was a home run by Hank Bauer.

Andy Carey singled with the bases loaded in the first inning to get the Yanks off to a 2-0 lead.

Fred Hatfield's drop of Noren's high pop fly near the mound helped jam the sacks.

Detroit starter Billy Hoelt got back one run in the second with a sacrifice fly that scored Wayne Belardi. Ray Boone's triple and Belardi's single tied it up in the third.

But Noren, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron singled in succession in the last of the third for a 3-2 margin and New York had the lead for keeps.

The Yanks poured across six runs in the eighth for extra good measure.

George Zuverink (7-9) was named to oppose Tom Morgan (9-3) in tonight's game.

Hutchinson May Stay At Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit News today reported that Detroit Tiger Manager Fred Hutchinson will receive a new one year contract to manage the Tigers in 1955.

Sports writer Watson Spoelstra said President Walter O. Spike Briggs, Jr., told him he had made up his mind to retain the 35-year-old manager and his staff of assistants.

Spoelstra said the official announcement would follow the next meeting of the Tiger board of directors in September.

A previous story by the News' veteran Sports Editor H. G. Salsinger, who has been close to the Tiger front office since 1917, criticized Hutchinson and said there was good reason to believe he wouldn't be back next season.

Hutchinson, who succeeded Red Rolfe, is completing his second full season as manager. Last season Detroit finished last. The Tigers currently are fighting for fourth place with the Boston Red Sox.

Big Field Entered In Fair Stock Car Races

Thirty cars are entered in the big stock car race program at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Sunday afternoon.

This is the big race of the year, the climax of the stock car racing season. It is the big payoff for a season of racing and the prize money offered is the largest of the year.

Top drivers from Marquette, Marinette, Menominee, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Manistique, Gladstone and Escanaba are entered.

Marquette will have such drivers as Bob Cleary, Bob Higgins, Len Fluette and Sgt. Bob Salzman. From Ishpeming will be Merv Stanaway, Bill Johnson and Pinky Hytinen. Al LaFortune, 6 Corners, Wisconsin, is entered as well.

Class C Softball Tournament Opens At Negaunee Today

The Class C softball tournament of the Upper Peninsula opens at Negaunee today. The Escanaba Eagles will play West Ishpeming at 4 today at LaComb Field.

Anderson Brothers, Ensign, play Iron Mountain Seven Up at six tonight at LaComb Field and St. Thomas of Escanaba plays Negaunee Hotel Bar at 8 at the Playground.

Mrs. Coulter Club Champion

Dorothy Coulter won the women's championship of the Gladstone Golf Club yesterday, defeating Jane Empson, 2 and 1, in the finals. It was Mrs. Coulter's third championship. Two other golfers, Agnes Erickson and Alice Altese, have won the title at least three times. Mrs. Altese won four years.

Mrs. Coulter got off to a fast start, winning the first four holes. The fifth was halved and Mrs. Empson took the sixth and seventh. Mrs. Coulter won the eighth and Mrs. Empson the ninth.

The 10th was halved and Mrs. Empson won the 11th. After Mrs. Coulter won the 12th, the finalists halved the next five holes, the match ending on the 17th.

Katie Van Donsel defeated Dee Dee Peterson in the Beaten Two and Irma Siebert defeated Sally Johnson in the Beaten Four. Ev Skellenger won the consolation, defeating Tillie Cannon. Doris Bevar won the nine hole flight.

Bobby Thomson Fit And Ready As Giants Invade Milwaukee

By BEN PHILEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Bobby Thomson-Johnny Antonelli winter trade between New York and Milwaukee is shaping up more and more as the key to the 1954 National League pennant.

It's been almost all in the Giants' favor so far. Thomson broke his ankle during spring training and has been benched as a regular until this week. But tonight and Saturday the Braves get their chance to reap a few dividends.

Milwaukee has beaten New York six in a row and when the Giants invade County Stadium for this two-game series, they'll find Thomson fit and ready for the first time.

Highway Needs In State Studied

LANSING (P)—Members of the legislative committee heading up an exhaustive study of Michigan's highway needs were summoned to a meeting Monday and Tuesday at Mackinac Island.

Chairman Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) said the committee has invited its citizen's advisory panel, State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit and northern Michigan officials to attend.

The committee is scheduled to hear reports on the progress of the Mackinac Straits Bridge and the State Turnpike Authority.

It may also decide on recommending a reclassification of Michigan highway laws, Nichols said.

Jerry P. Buckley, chief engineer of the Automotive Safety Foundation, was expected to discuss the engineering study of the state's highways now under way.

REX ALLEN, star of screen, records and television, will appear in person at the U. P. State Fair Saturday night.

Nearly half a million U. S. people work in banks, nearly double the number so employed in 1936.

Debt May Call Turn On Trade This Fall

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—Debt—rather than savings—could call the turn on trade this fall.

The swelling total of personal savings may be left untapped. But watch the curve of installment debt. When it takes a decided turn up-ward, credit men are saying today, you'll know the consumer is back in the market—even if only with a down payment—after taking it slow and easy earlier this year.

Right now most consumers seem to be maintaining fairly comfortable standards of living—but little splurging. For most of the year they've been paying off old installment debts faster than they've been taking on new—as merchants of big ticket appliances well know.

Ready For More

Credit men figure many consumers have caught up on payments now and are ready to take on some more things they crave.

Why do people borrow to spend? Paul L. Selby, executive vice president of the National Consumer Finance Assn., says: "Most of us spend our money for such desirable things as speed, convenience and 'what we like.'" We could do without some of these things and save the money, but we don't like waiting—even if that means getting it cheaper in the long run by paying cash.

Members of the association, led about three billion dollars a year to some 10 million American families. The common belief is that they must make a great deal of money out of other peoples' needs and desires, since their interest charges—set by law in 37 states—vary from 2 to 3 1/2 per cent per month.

Return Of 6 Per Cent

Selby will present a report next week at the association's annual convention in San Francisco on a survey of profits of the finance companies. It will hold that last year the median return on assets used in the licensed consumer finance business was around 6 per

Lake States Map Port Improvement For Seaway Boom

CHICAGO (P)—Representatives of the eight states bordering the Great Lakes began Friday a two-day conference for exploratory discussion of past and planned waterway improvement.

Special attention was focused on the St. Lawrence Waterway recently approved by Congress.

Reports on Waterway Improvement plans were to be submitted by each state, and speakers included Col. Wendell P. Trowler, Chicago division engineer, and Asst. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Olds of Michigan.

Lt. Gov. John William Chapman of Illinois called upon congress to authorize adequate funds for improving the Calumet-Sag Channel to increase marine commerce from Lake Michigan to New Orleans via the Illinois Waterway and the Mississippi River.

In a prepared address, Chapman described the 363-mile Illinois Waterway from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi as the vital link to increasing commerce between Europe and the American mid-west.

The Calumet-Sag Channel must be widened and improved, he said, to promote "to an even greater degree all types of water traffic between Chicago and New Orleans."

The conference was arranged by the Council of State Governments, it has attracted waterway officials from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

U. S. Shifts Jets Out Of Korea

SEOUL, Friday (P)—The U. S. 5th Air Force has announced plans to pull many of its deadly Sabre jets and other planes out of Korea and shift its headquarters to Nagoya, Japan.

When the Korean armistice was signed 13 months ago the 5th Air Force was flying more than 1,000 planes.

Announcement of plans to base many of these planes elsewhere follows by only a few days disclosure that four of six U. S. infantry divisions now in Korea are to be withdrawn. Experts said the Army-Air Force withdrawal will pull at least 100,000 Americans out of Korea.

The Air Force did not identify units which will be pulled out. It said some will be based elsewhere in the Far East, while others will return to the United States in a major reshuffle expected to start soon and continue for several months.

Air Force sources pointed out that units in Korea cannot be modernized under terms of the armistice, which forbids the movement of new, high-powered jet craft into Korea.

Some observers said 5th Air Force units will leave behind some of their equipment for the South Korean air force, which has only propeller-type planes. South Korea has asked repeatedly for jets.

Danforth Girl Is Winner In 4-H Fat Stock Show

Geraldine LaMarche, of Danforth, was awarded the grand champion ribbon in the 4-H Club fat stock show in the judging which was completed shortly before noon today.

Harlan Linderhof, of Danforth, was awarded second place.

Both of the entries were yearling steers, the awards being based on the finished weight, beginning weight, total gain, days on feed, rate of gain per day, cost of feed per day and the general quality of the animal.

The stock competing in the show will be sold at auction at the fair tomorrow morning, the proceeds going to the exhibitors.

Young Soviet Patrols Ban Tarzan Haircuts

MOSCOW (P)—The latest thing in the Soviet Union is the morality patrol, composed of strict young Communists.

These patrols go up and down the streets of the big cities helping the police try to keep the rest of the nation's youth from going astray on alcoholism, brawling and Tarzan-style long hairdos. Another task is to prevent children from slipping into delinquency, which here includes going to church and learning to pray to God.

The new patrol is announced in Komsomol Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist Youth League in an article titled "Don't Be Indifferent."

The morality patrol was inaugurated as an experiment in the port city of Leningrad.

Komsomol Pravda tells of a young man with a Tarzan haircut who was sent to the barber. It says the patrols have worked so well in Leningrad that they are being extended to other cities.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market displayed a higher tendency today despite a lagged performance by the railroads.

Many gains in key areas went to between one and three points. Losses were around a point at the worst in early afternoon.

Trading pace was less than two million shares for the day. Thursday's total in a falling market was 2,060,000 shares.

Fair Notes

By JRL

Have you stopped to listen to those spell binders in Indian costume? They provide good entertainment and incidentally work on one's inferiority complex to such a degree that one could almost be led to believe that the lower animals have it on humans, mentally, morally and physically. But they take so long a time to get to what they are driving at that most people are at a loss to know what they are selling. It happens to be some sort of a vitamin pill—in case you've been curious.

In case you happened to visit one of the numerous washrooms at the fair and have been made aware—by conspicuous signs that the places have been kept clean by the attendants in charge who make a livelihood from the tips they receive—you may find it interesting to note that these people make one fair after another all season long. Sometimes the way they insist on being tipped smacks of unlimited gall, but when one takes into consideration the way a neglected washroom gets to look if unattended, there is a whole lot of merit to the system. Most of these people are crippled and would have a tough time in other types of occupation.

The poultry house seems to be one of the most popular and also the noisiest exhibit buildings at the fair. The many varieties, the size of some of the roosters and the goofy antics of some of the birds and of some of the spectators makes the place interesting and amusing. Bantams and rabbits seem to make the biggest hit with youngsters and roosters with the grownups. Some newborn rabbits are also getting their share of attention.

Have you ever wondered how you would look on a television screen? Well, you can find out at the fair. At one of the booths in the exhibition building is a TV set that reflects your physiognomy as you pass by. A camera stationed above and in back of the set takes the impression which is reflected on the screen. Lots of fun.

One of the gadgets being promoted at the fair seems to have more than ordinary merit. Its a rake that serves its purpose very efficiently, but doesn't clog. It should be a boon to those who have to rake leaves and old grass through rose bushes and lilac brush.

It would be much easier to see the good in others if we didn't have so many faults of our own.

Radioactive Waste Disposal Gives New Problem For State

By ROBERT E. VOGES

LANSING (P)—A series of proposals by General Motors for the disposal of radioactive materials at its experimental laboratory at Warren township, near Detroit, were being eyed cautiously today by the State Water Resources Commission.

Gerald E. Eddy, commission chairman, said it was the first time the group has been posed with the problem of setting up standards for the disposal of radioactive material.

Danger of Contamination
"This is something brand new to all of us," Eddy said. "We certainly don't want to act today."

The commission decided to make no decision on the matter until the next commission meeting, scheduled for Sept. 29 in Detroit.

Commission members mainly were concerned with the possibility that some radioactive wastes might escape and contaminate the waters of the Clinton River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River, used as sources of water by Detroit and surrounding communities.

Palatial Steamer City Of Cleveland To Become Barge

WINDSOR, Ont. (P)—Once a palatial Great Lakes passenger ship, the City of Cleveland III is saying a final good-bye to glamor.

She's going to become a barge and will help in the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Now docked in the Detroit River in front of the Windsor city dump, the City of Cleveland III is to be dismantled and converted by her new owners, the Ventimiglia Demolition Co. of Detroit.

Her superstructure will be removed and her interior torn out. On the St. Lawrence development she'll serve as a foundation for derricks and other equipment.

The City of Cleveland III hasn't sailed in several years. She used to operate on the Detroit - Cleveland run.

Athlete Electrocuted

MUSKEGON (P)—Jay Schilleman, 17, a star Whitehall High School athlete, was electrocuted Thursday on his tree trimming summer job when a truck's crane boom struck a power line. Two fellow workmen suffered shock.

A delegation from General Motors appeared before the commission Thursday to outline plans for the disposal of radioactive wastes that would be a by-product of experiments at the new isotope laboratory.

Opposed At Mt. Clemens

A wire from Mt. Clemens city officials declared they were "violently opposed" to GM's proposal "to dump radioactive wastes in in Bear Creek."

Dr. Allen Somerville, spokesman for the group, emphasized no radioactive materials, only harmless wastes, would be dumped into the creek or any drains in the area. Non-radioactive wastes will be treated and made harmless and dumped into the creek and drains, he said.

Radioactive wastes, he said, would be contained on GM property and would be encased in concrete boxes. These boxes eventually would be buried at sea or buried in the ground under the supervision of the Atomic Energy Commission, he said.

"We have to drink the water too," Somerville said. "A lot of General Motors people live in Mt. Clemens. We wouldn't want to poison our own people."
